Interview Questions:

- When and where were you born?
  - I was born in December 1994 in Kumasi, Ghana in the Western part of Africa.
- When you were a child, what did you want to be when you grew up?
  - In the early stages of my education, I grew an interest in mathematics, so I wanted to continue and pursue a career that deals with mathematics. I did not have a lot of white collar professionals in my life, so I did not have any particular career in mind, I just wanted to be in a mathematics concentrated career.
- How would you describe your cultural identity?
  - I believe as an African my cultural identity goes back to my heritage and the folklore of my forefathers. As a child of the Ashanti tribe, I am first an Ashanti, then a Ghanaian.
- What is your favorite travel destination?
  - Growing up away from Ghana, I believe my favorite travel destination is Ghana. It is always a pleasure when I get the chance to travel back home, the nostalgic feeling of being back to where I grew up, the noisy environment of cars honking, the busy streets of Kumasi and Accra, eating highly organic meals free from chemicals, Ghana is clearly my favorite travel destination.
- What is your highest level of education?
  - I have a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting and Finance from the University of Manchester in the United Kingdom.
- What do you do for a living?
  - I am currently a Financial Analyst for Black Knight Financial Services in Jacksonville, Florida in the United States of America.
- How would you describe your career in three words?
  - It is STRESSFULL!!!
- Are you married? What is your spouse's name?
  - Yes, I have been married for 3 years to Oscar Acheampong. We met when we were kids in Ghana, I believe around the ages of 15 or 16 and here we are today.
- Do you have children? What are their names and ages?
  - I have 1 bundle of joy called Cherelle Acheampong, she turns 2 on August 1st and she is awesome.

- Are you a sports fan? If so, what is your favorite team?
  - I am not a sports fan, but my husband is a big time football fan, I am from the UK so the only football I know is the one played with the foot, not the American football played with the hands. Anyways my husband supports Liverpool Football Club in the English Premier League, so I play the devil's advocate and supports their bitter rivals, Manchester United just to get him annoyed on game days.

Inspiration:

- I believe my inspiration to make this bioSite Project about the subject stems from the fact that I have known her for more than 15 years and she has had a positive impact on my life in several aspects. First, she made me a boyfriend, then funded my very first business idea, then made me a husband and a father. Over the years, I have seen her cry, fail at achieving things she dreamed of at first try but the setbacks did not stop her from going after what she dreamt of achieving.

She also made a bold decision to quit her accounting job in the United Kingdom to move to the United States of America to join her husband after marriage during a period of global pandemic. Her courage and determination to make her dreams a reality inspires me to go harder every day to achieve what I want to achieve. The subject's selfless dedication to the well-being of the people in her life is amazing and something that needs to be recognized and celebrated daily. These are some of the inspirations that I drew from the subject to make me better understand her and daily activities including her hobbies for this web design project. I believe the subject has had positive influence on the life of her friends and other family members and they would all agree that she is the perfect subject to focus on in this project. We hope that this little gesture of a project will remind her that she is loved and appreciated.

Short Bio:

- The subject is my wife of 3 years, but I have known her for over 13 years. I believe spending time with her has given me a different perspective in life as to how you can become so close to one person that they have a major influence in your life. Aside her being my wife, she is an amazing mother who juggles between her professional life, personal life, and marital life as well. She does this so well to the point where she makes it look easy. She is a highly focused professional who always strives to achieve success. I believe the subject has a positive impact on the life of the people around her and in her life and as a result she needs to be appreciated.

I purposefully decided to make this bio Project about the subject because of how inspiring and supportive she is to me and our family as a whole and as a result I would like to celebrate her with my very first web design project. I believe this project will inspire her to continue to be awesome and let her know that her efforts are highly appreciated and valued in every way contributed. Her hobbies are selfless as she is always making time for our daughter on her off hours and off days to make sure, our daughter's development is effective and hitting all the milestones she needs to achieve. The subject is also family oriented which makes her loved by her in-laws, nieces, nephews, and siblings.
